

British developer buys Great-Britain shaped island on The World

19th January 2009

Dubai-based, British developer has bought the Great Britain-shaped island on The World, one of Nakheel's reclamation projects off of Dubai's coast, for $63.3 million. According to ArabianBusiness.com, SafMus Holdings confirmed on Sunday that it has purchased the island and plans to build British-inspired developments.

"We want people to take pride in owning something and that it is instantly recognisable as the island of the UK," said Safi Qurashi, one of the partners in the venture, to ArabianBusiness.com. "We want people who sail past it to instantly know this is the UK island."
